講師からの一言メッセージ Short message from lecturer	The majority of the people in this planet are poor. These people are leading hand to mouth life and struggling every now and then to survive. Microcredit, a recent invention, has brought changes in the life-style of these poor people to be self-independent. The mission is continuous until poverty belongs to museum. Here, the participants would have opportunity to practice property building using micro-loan in the workshop session.	感動はすべてのモチベーションの源 言葉の力を使って学んだ知識を知恵に変えよう すべては既成概念からの脱却から始まります  Being moved is the source of all motivation Change the knowledge you've learnt into wisdom, using the power of words. Everything begins from ridding oneself of stereotypes.	日本人は素敵な魅力をいっぱいもっています。 英語で対話することによっていろいろな発見があります。 私のクラスでそれを発見して下さい。  Japanese have many wonderful attractive points. There are all sorts of discoveries to be made by interacting in English. Please feel free to discover them in my class.

講師名 Lecturer Name	Francia Campos	John Foster	Donican Lam	朴善花 (パク・ソナ)
講師プロフィール (出身国・職業ほか自己PR) Profile (Nationality, work history, anything about yourself)	From Colombia. Research student in the Medicine Faculty of Kagoshima University. Likes traditional Colombian dance, and experiencing Kagoshima through culture.	From Canada. Is currently researching psychology in his doctoral course in depth psychology at American Pacific University. Enjoys having discussions with his wife during coffee time in the mornings. Specialises in preparing students for TOEFL/TOEIC exams, etc.	Hometown: Australia	韓国出身、市国際交流アドバイザー (CIR)
授業内容 Subject Content	Let's search for the attractiveness of Kagoshima, as seen from a foreigner's eyes, in nature, history and culture. Improve your English abilities through talking about your hometown.	Experience an introduction to psychology which can read the heart. What is the heart/mind of Japanese people as seen from a foreigner's eyes? What opens your heart? What opens others' hearts? Using psychology techniques, we will focus on the hearts/minds of Japanese who feel they aren't good at English.	We will take a look at some idioms and modern day phrases of the English language, using popular media as an example of use. Also, we will touch on some unexplainable quirks just for fun!	韓国の伝統茶についてご紹介いたします。その中で今が旬の青梅で「梅實茶(メシル茶、梅茶)」作りに挑戦してみます。
当日持ってくる物(参加者が) Things participants may need to bring	Please bring a photo of Kagoshima, or a photo of a dish from your hometown, that you like. It can also be a drawing or from a magazine.	Please bring a picture of your family.	Nothing in particular	青梅 500 g、砂糖 500 g (三温糖、黒砂糖でもかまいませんが、甘みは少し異なります)、熱消毒した密閉容器
語学力(どのくらい必要?) English/foreign language ability Required	Middle school level (around Eiken level 3)	Middle school level (around Eiken level 3)	English skills are not really needed, but it will be more interesting if you do have some knowledge.	授業は日本語でおこないます。
講師からの一言メッセージ Short message from lecturer	Talking about Kagoshima's attractiveness is talking about your attractiveness. From there, communication starts, and your language skills will improve.	You can begin to talk about yourself only after you know yourself. You will expand your knowledge of the workings of your heart and expressive power. Language will unleash your potential.	I love the English language for all its quirks and inconsistencies, and thought it would be fun to explore and explain some of them. I hope that you can learn something new and look at English in a fresh perspective.	爽やかな味の梅實茶(メシル茶)で蒸し暑い夏を過ごすように。
